PROCESS FOR ENGAGING WITH INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

The process for engaging with international institutions involves several key steps. First, it is essential to identify potential partners that align with USF's academic and research interests. This is followed by a thorough evaluation of the institution's reputation, resources, and cultural context. Once a potential partner is identified, the next step is to establish a formal relationship through a memorandum of understanding (MOU) or similar agreement. This process ensures that both institutions have a clear understanding of their mutual goals and responsibilities.
